

Hailey Hall School English Curriculum Booklet

English Intent

We are committed to providing pupils with a broad and ambitious English curriculum, rich in skills and knowledge, which ignites curiosity, is challenging on an individual level and prepares them for future learning or employment. We encourage independent reading, linked to pupils' passions, fostering their interests in niche areas encouraging a lifelong positive reading ethos. Our English curriculum will give pupils the opportunity to:

- enjoy a wide range of fiction and non-fiction texts which help them to connect with the world around them.
- develop cultural capital that will help remove barriers to achievement in school, future learning, and the world of work.
- opportunities to experience live performances relating to the curriculum.
- accessing a variety of performances both through professional works and through amateur dramatics in the local community. To enhance the wider school activity offer.
- in talk, articulate and express their ideas, views, and opinions about a wide range of topics clearly, confidently, and respectfully.
- develop their character, including resilience, confidence, and independence, so that they contribute positively to the life of the school, their local community, and the wider environment.
- demonstrate mastery of reading through discussion and writing.
- making writing accessible by using a variety of tools including computers, handwriting and multisensory experiences.
- developing subject content that is current and is accessible to increase interest and engagement
- all pupils will have the opportunity to access a qualification that is tailored to them with the aim of achieving personal excellence, enabling them to follow their chosen career path.

Throughout our programmes of study, every attempt is made to make explicit links to careers and the world of work. In addition to subject specific links, we aim to explicitly reinforce transferable skills that future employers will be looking for including:

- self-challenge, staying positive and showing resilience
- working independently (self-assessment, peer assessment, responding to feedback)
- communication skills (listening, speaking, presenting, debating)
- teamwork and problem solving,
- creativity and thinking skills
- self-management and leadership
- analysis and inference

The British values of democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, and mutual respect of those with different faiths and beliefs are taught explicitly and reinforced in the way in which the school operates.

Year 7 English

Why this subject is important:

English is vital for communicating with others in school and in the wider world and is fundamental to learning in all curriculum subjects. In studying English pupils develop skills in speaking, listening, reading, and writing that they will need to participate in society and employment. Pupils learn to express themselves creatively and imaginatively and to communicate with others confidently and effectively.

Literature in English is rich and influential. It reflects the experiences of people from many countries and times and contributes to our sense of cultural identity. Pupils learn to become enthusiastic and critical readers of stories, poetry, and drama as well as non-fiction and media texts, gaining access to the pleasure and world of knowledge that reading offers.

Looking at the patterns, structures, origins, and conventions of English helps pupils understand how language works. Using this understanding, pupils can choose and adapt what they say and write in different situations, as well as appreciate and interpret the choices made by other writers and speakers.
